Hancock school teachers to rally at Courthouse

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Public school teachers of Hancock County are planning a 9:30 a.m. Rally for Education Saturday at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

The local rally joins statewide rallies the same day by educators mustering support for a Tuesday rally at the Capitol Building in Jackson.

Lynn Parrish, president of the Bay St. Louis Association of Educators states, "We want everyone who is interested in the future of education in Mississippi to be with us on Saturday. We have kept silent too long about the Legislature's failure to provide adequate education for the children of Mississippi."

The current legislative session has teachers disturbed because they feel there is little hope for even a three percent salary increase.

The local rally will involve teachers from both the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Districts.

The Legislature recently defeated plans to establish state-funded kindergartens and establish a mandatory school attendance law.

Teachers throughout the state have expressed anger and dismay regarding the Legislature's failure to take positive action on their salary increases, establishing public kindergartens and enacting a compulsory attendance law.

Billy Sills, superintendent of the Hancock district says his office has received a petition from teachers of five schools requesting a holiday on Tuesday and also the use of a bus to take local teachers to the Jackson rally. Sills will present the petitions to the County School Board at a Friday meeting for its action.

In reviewing the petitions, Sills says he only knows of two teachers who did not sign one; was sick when the petition was circulated and the other has a special class to teach that day.

J.D. McCullough reports he sent out a questionnaire to teachers Friday to see if they were in favor of requesting a Tuesday holiday so they could travel to Jackson.

"The majority of the teachers have requested a holiday and I will bring the matter before the Bay St. Louis Municipal School System Thursday night," McCullough adds.

Several discussions have occurred in recent weeks at the meetings of the Gulf Coast Superintendents Association regarding the rallies, McCullough says.

"No bus requests had been made by the Bay teachers, most have told me they would go in groups of four or five in private vehicles," McCullough reports.

A majority of the teachers are members of the American Federation of Teachers or Mississippi Association of Educators.

The local rally is being planned by members of both organizations as well as individual teachers.

Bonnie Allison, teacher in the Hancock County School System this week stated, "When Mississippi teachers see that their colleagues in other states are faring much better than themselves, many may be forced to go to greater lengths. This may no longer be a choice, but rather a matter of survival for many teachers."

The rally calls for all teachers, administrators as well as persons interested in the education of Mississippi's children.

MAE affiliates are planning Rallies for Education in every county of the state Saturday.

"We will use the rallies to gather the support of all Mississippians who are tired of seeing the Legislature play politics with the education of our children," states Janice McAllister, state president of MAE.

"At least 17 school systems have agreed to close Tuesday to allow their teachers to come to Jackson. We are pleased with the cooperation that our efforts are receiving from school superintendents, school boards, and other interested groups," says McAllister.

McAllister notes, "The Legislature seem to have forgotten about their constitutional responsibility to provide education for the children of Mississippi. Not only are our teachers the lowest paid in the nation, but we can not get the Legislature to act on kindergarten or compulsory education law."

Faron Young concert Friday may be moved from Fairgrounds

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A country western concert featuring Faron Young scheduled this Friday at 9 p.m. at the Hancock County Fairgrounds building may have to be moved to another location at the last minute.

Thursday, two members of the Fairground Association which is in charge of renting the building, stated they would not rent the building for the concert.

Walter McRae, a Waveland resident and vice president of the association, explained the association had been problems with a certain individual now involved in renting the building for the Young concert.

The individual Turcotte said he is referring to is Buck Marquar, president of Superstar Enterprises, promoter of the concert.

The action could present one big problem for Alan Kester, a Waveland resident sponsoring his first show ever. Kester Tuesday noted he hired Marquar, "because he is a good promoter."

Kester said he has already spent at least $5,000 in expenses which include promotion, advertising, obtaining a beer license, purchasing hotdogs and condiments, and renting portable toilets. "I've tried to make everything as comfortable as possible," Kester said.

"This is my first show, I wanted to do everything right," he added.

Advertisements for the concert have been placed by WJMR in Bay St. Louis, WRJW in Piquette, WVMK in Biloxi and WGUE in Gulfport.

Tickets at $7 per person have also been sold, Kester said.

Kester stated he signed a contract for

Hancock jail break foiled by deputies

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Two prisoners in Hancock Jail in Bay St. Louis tried to overpower a jailer Monday night, but the attempt was foiled by two back-up deputies waiting at the steps, Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Wednesday.

Peterson said Wailer Stanley Hamilton was checking a prisoner in one of the common cells complaining of stomach cramps. As the jailer opened the cell inmates Ronnie Alexander and Charles Legue shoved Hamilton aside and tried to flee to find the deputy at the end of the stairway and another jailer at the door.

Both Alexander and Legue have been charged with attempted jail escape and will present the case to the Bay County Grand Jury, Peterson added.

Hamilton was reportedly injured in the escape attempt.

The jail escape incident occurred at 10:30 p.m. Monday. Peterson said the two inmates were charged with attempted jail escape.

A search of the jail records showed that Hamilton and Legue were charged with attempted jail escape.

Hamilton was charged with attempted jail escape and Legue was charged with attempted jail escape.

In other police activities, a Waveland man was arrested late Sunday and charged with three counts of burglary and grand larceny, according to Waveland investigator Robert (Booby) Patterson.

Patricia M. McGraw, 25, of Coleman Avenue in Waveland was arrested by Waveland Patrolman John Wilkerson and Hancock Deputy Glen Jackson. Police received a tip.

McGraw was charged with allegedly burglarizing a Waveland beachfront residence, a Coleman Avenue home and Calvary Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis.

Mike Wallace, "60 Minutes" journalist, talks about his life in news, commercials, soap operas and his brief stint on Broadway on "John Callaway Interviews" at 11 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 25, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Wallace speaks openly about the death of his son that changed the direction of his career. He describes the animosity and suspicion with which he was greeted by his colleagues upon his return to journalism after a hiatus in the entertainment field.

He analyzes and defends the expose techniques he uses for "60 Minutes" investigations, and he expounds on his life philosophies, views on religion and how he wants to be remembered.

Hunting regulation bill OK'd by Senate

The State Senate in Jackson Tuesday approved a bill designed to ban shooting firearms from and across roadways, and near churches.

The Senate rewrote a House-passed measure and then passed it with no dissenting votes after battling over whether to impose the ban within a quarter-mile of churches seven days a week or just on Sunday.

Sen. John William Powell of Liberty in successfully arguing for a seven-day ban stated, "The good Lord works his wisdom seven days out of the week, not just on Sunday."

"Amen," responded one of his colleagues.

Powell added, "This is a Bible Belt state and we're with God and church seven days a week."

The measure is intended to replace a law voided by the state Supreme Court last year on a technicality which prohibited shooting across streets and public highways.

As approved by the Senate on Tuesday, the measure would impose on offenders a $100-$500 fine and up to five days in jail.

The legislation also would apply to shooting from or across the property of interstate railroads.

The bill also authorizes conservation officers, as well as sheriff's deputies and constables, to arrest violators.

The bill will now be returned to the House for consideration of the Senate changes.

Hancock residents at NSTL honored

Two Hancock County residents were among the National Aeronautics and Space Administration employees at the National Space Technology Laboratories who were recently honored for their contributions in development of the Space Shuttle.

Ed Ling of Waveland, NASA chief counsel, and Don Kelly of Diamondhead, a budget analyst, each received a certificate and a flag which was on board the first Space Shuttle mission last April.

The awards were presented by Jerry Hlass, NSTL manager, during recent ceremonies in NSTL's Visitors Center.

Hlass told NASA personnel, "We at NSTL can again take pride in the vital contributions we have made and will continue to make to this streamlined, hybrid manned space vehicle—a vehicle which has capabilities that even our finest minds cannot yet conceive."

"As you all know, NSTL has the prime responsibility of supporting the developmental and acceptance testing of the Space Shuttle's main engines and main propulsion test article. To date, over 630 tests have been conducted, totaling 98,000 seconds, with no delays attributable to our support," Hlass said.

Bits 'n pieces

Mardi Gras has come and gone for another year, and we sure have had our share of parades.

Fat Tuesday offered beautiful weather for the Krewe of Real People in Bay St. Louis and Triton in Waveland.

Grand Marshal Willie Bradley of the Krewe of Real People started the parading off Mardi Gras Day at 11 a.m.

The number of floats and spectators have increased for the Bay St. Louis parade in its second year.

US-90 was packed with vehicles and spectators in record numbers as Triton rolled down US-90 in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Mac Haas, king of Triton really lived up to the role Mardi Gras Day as he lead the parade through Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

There was a lot of discussion about people not recognizing Mac in the photo of Sunday's paper because he did not have his big hat on.

The weatherman did a fine job cooperating for all the parades this year. The sun was welcomed by all the spectators.

It is hard to realize the economy is supposed to be down by the amount of beads and trinkets thrown during the various parades.

Well, it is now only a few weeks and the great St. Patrick's Day Parade will be rumbling down the streets of Waveland. So we get a little rest, and will have another nice parade to view.

The school teachers of the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis Municipal School Systems seem to be annoyed by State Legislators and are planning a big rally on the courthouse steps Saturday morning.

It seems the legislators are continuing their lack of interest in education by not providing raises for the teachers.

The compulsory education and kindergarten bills have all been swept under the rug and now the legislators do not want to give our teachers a raise.

In talking to one of the organizers of the rally, a planned mass visit of teachers to Jackson is also being considered.

Senators and representatives beware.

We feel our Hancock County Board of Supervisors should be commended for their statements urging compulsory drug education courses be taught in our schools.

It is a proven fact that most persons arrested in our county are involved in drug-related crimes.

Illegal drug usage seems to be on the increase as more and more arrests are being made in drug related cases.

Awareness of the pitfalls of drug usage by our youth is of prime importance.

We hope there is a follow-up on compulsory drug education in our classrooms.

Arthritis affects millions in America

(Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

People have always been plagued with sore, aching joints. Arthritis is the popular name for several diseases that affect the joints and chronically disable a great many people.

Some 15 million Americans seek relief from arthritis, the Mississippi State Medical Association reminds. Some three million report that arthritis restricts their everyday activities. Some 700,000 are unable to work; keep house, attend school or engage in most recreational activities.

Most common forms are rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. Although quite different, both cause painful, deformed joints.

Rheumatoid arthritis is a disease affecting joints throughout the body. Three times as many women suffer from it as men. Usually it appears between ages 20 and 35. Treatment with drugs and physical therapy reduces inflammation and pain and minimizes deformity. Osteoarthritis affects fewer joints, but is just as uncomfortable. Everyone will develop some osteoarthritis if he lives long enough. It begins in middle age and becomes more pronounced with advancing years.

Control of arthritis requires skilled medical supervision over a long period of time. Causes are unknown, but severe crippling can be prevented in seven out of ten cases if the disease is diagnosed early and if prompt, individualized treatment is started. Pain and swelling often can be controlled by medical treatment and the joints and muscles rehabilitated by physical therapy.

There is no cure for arthritis. Dubious quick remedies abound. The disease fluctuates, going from better to worse to better again. The individual may credit whichever medication or treatment being used at the time of remission with "cure." Diet is important to good health, but arthritis is not a dietary disease and special diets will not help. The most widely used drug is aspirin, and most of the so-called arthritis drugs contain this useful painkiller.

Be on guard against anyone offering a "sure cure" for arthritis. It does not exist. When joint pain persists or recurs, see a physician.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bay resident feels 'witch hunt'

investigation of police department 'unlikely'

The Sea Coast Echo
P. O. Box 230
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

It is with great distress—no, anger—that I feel compelled to write this letter after reading the letter published in the February 21 edition of this paper concerning the investigation of the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

I, too, as do the writers of this letter, support a fair investigation of the department. I would also like to express my confidence in Chief Douglas Williams and the Bay police department. My faith in this force, as I am sure of anyone else's would prove justifiable.

What has me quite disturbed was the paragraph, "We intend to keep an eye on the council in its investigation—that it carry on a fair investigation and not a 'witch hunt'."

I must question how could anyone insinuate that an investigation by the city council could be such a thing as a 'witch hunt'.

The police force of any city is responsible to the citizens which it serves, as is any branch of any government.

Therefore, we can reasonably assume that our police department is answerable to our city council, which is also responsible to the people of Bay St.

Louis, and it is perfectly justifiable that the council call for an investigation of its police force at any time, no matter who is involved within the force.

An investigation by the City Council must not be viewed as a means of personal persecution, which unfortunately seems the case, but as a means to seek improvement in areas which may be necessary.

If the Bay St. Louis police force cannot stand an investigation by the Bay St. Louis City Council, which is elected to serve the interests of the community and act as its voice, and whose duty and right would be to call for an investigation of any of the city institutions, then to whom do you suggest that they be responsible?

Yes, you do have the right to keep an eye out that the council keep its investigation 'fair,' mainly for the same principles that I have stated in this letter. The city council is responsible to us. A 'witch hunt' is unlikely.

We should not hinder any of the council's actions in this matter. This is not a smudge against our police department. It is a basic principle of city government.

The police force cannot be run by the city council, but it must see to it that the best interests of the city are served.

Sincerely,
Peter Scianna
Bay St. Louis

Bay Police, Fire Departments'

quick response noted by resident

To The Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Editor:

Last Monday night we suffered a fire in our storage shed which, due to the proximity of our dwelling and garage, was very dangerous. In fact, the glass of two of our windows exploded.

We called our fire department and we were hardly out of the house when they were there accompanied by our police cars.

Their intelligent and excellent performance prevented our house and our neighbors' dwellings from being set afire.

Great credit is due to our fire chief, his fine assistants and our police. These are all dedicated people of which our city has reason to be proud.

Besides the fire and police department our very good neighbors around us came to offer help and moral support.

My wife and I are very grateful to all of them and especially our wonderful fire and police departments.

Reader reports results of statewide telephone poll regarding public education

Feb. 22, 1982

Dear Editor,

During the period of Nov. 26 through Dec. 21, 1977 a telephone interview was sponsored by the Mississippi State Department of Education.

This survey involved canvassing 697 classroom teachers whose names were pulled at random from the State Department of Education's computer listings of teachers; 158 or 98 percent of all superintendents; 144 or 82 percent of our legislators; and 388 adults of the state with listed residential telephones.

It was an honor to be one of that chosen group, and I felt very proud while reading the brochure which all participants received free of charge, to learn that many of my responses were the ideas and desires of a majority of those interviewed.

Major topics to mention a few, were proposed legislation affecting ratings of schools, personal accountability, and community involvement.

The interview was conducted by a trained corps of volunteer interviewers from the State Department of Education.

The brochure tells us the Mississippi public rates public schools higher than the national average determined by the latest Gallup Poll. Yet, every day we hear just the opposite.

Turning to accountability, only 61 percent of our legislators, 66 percent of our public, 67 percent of our teachers and 66 percent of our superintendents consider it necessary to have a standard state examination to give a high school diploma, while only 75 percent of our legislators, 83 percent of our public, a pathetic 62 percent of our teachers and a mere 78 percent of our superintendents think that teachers should show a MINIMUM teaching skills as a standardized test before being approved, and an unbelievable 64 percent of our legislators, 64 percent of our teachers, 64 percent of our public, and only a degrading 51 percent of our superintendents agree that they—superintendents—should be required to show certain leadership skills on a standardized test approved by the State.

Even a teacher on his/her own may have a hard time getting a school board to approve a curriculum, let alone a superintendent or legislator who would have to approve a curriculum for all schools.

So, you see, people to whom we entrust our children a portion of each day, and whom we consider honorable enough to entrust them to, can rely upon the State Department of Education to give them a curriculum that is approved by the State.

Thank you for your interest in this matter.

Waveland parents—20 percent of the teachers, 50 percent of the superintendents, along with 18 percent of the public, said NO.

That tells us that 18 percent of the public has no interest in our schools, while 20 percent of the teachers and 50 percent of the state's superintendents are telling us, HANDS OFF.

That means that somewhere in school every child is going to come in contact with a teacher or superintendent whose only real interest in school is a paycheck, and even before a child is subjected to this gross indifference, there are 18 percent of us who could care less.

It is no wonder a high school graduate recently asked me if he was 17, I knew that answer before I completed the second grade, and I would imagine my teacher who had two grades in her room was barely making $100 per month.

Sure, today we have some very good teachers and superintendents, but they are few and far between. They are penalized and criticized, and those who only interest in a paycheck they always gripe about.

There is no doubt in my mind that their MEAGER paycheck is already equal to or 50 to 100 percent greater than the paycheck of the parents of most of the students they teach.

That interview also asked, "Do you think public schools should provide kindergartens for all children?"

Results: Legislature 61 percent yes, 44 percent no; House 48 percent yes, 44 percent no; Senate 58 percent yes, 42 percent no; Public 75 percent yes, 23 percent no; teachers 88 percent yes, 12 percent no; superintendents 72 percent yes, 28 percent no.

The Bottom Line

Concise Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

I decided in December to start an IRA (individual retirement account) at the beginning of the year. But I didn't realize there would be so many choices. How do I decide?

Dear HDID: I agree that it would be much easier if there were fewer options.

And I, too, am trying to make the same kind of choice.

What I am doing is reading all the ads in the local newspapers and trying to figure out which is the best deal for me.

What I decide on might be entirely different from what you think you need. For the fact that the accounts can be individualized means just that. They can be tailored, or tailored, for almost every kind of need and personality.

Some personality type is important, for some of the IRA offerings are quite risky—others, while stable and sure, offer limited growth.

So one consideration is how much risk can you sleep with?

There are some basic questions that should be resolved in any case. These include the investment goal (usually retirement), the time horizon (usually 10 to 20 years), and the tax status (usually IRA or Roth IRA).

Once these questions are resolved, the choice is usually between a stock fund, a bond fund, or a money market fund.

Each of these funds has its own risks and rewards. The stock fund is the most volatile, but it also has the highest potential for growth.

The bond fund is the most stable, but it also has the lowest potential for growth.

The money market fund is the most conservative, but it also has the lowest potential for growth.

So, the choice is usually between a stock fund, a bond fund, or a money market fund.

Each of these funds has its own risks and rewards. The stock fund is the most volatile, but it also has the highest potential for growth.

Being able to "roll-over" your account allows for later changes should you feel at some point you have made the wrong choice, or if more attractive developments and/or programs come along. Some companies emphasize that by offering a variety of programs they alone have this flexibility.

But roll-overs are possible from one institution to another and from one kind of program to another. The major question is the penalty that may be attached for leaving a program. This could be as important as the amount of the load.

Some observers see IRAs as the beginning of the end of Social Security. I don't, but it is entirely possible that SS benefits will become available only at a later retirement age and that the amount of the benefits will not keep pace with inflation.

So this, if true, would certainly make the IRA even more attractive.

A more serious caution about IRAs, however, is that they should not be thought of as a "free money" account. They are not. They are a long-term investment vehicle.

They are not a "free money" account. They are not. They are a long-term investment vehicle.

They are not a "free money" account. They are not. They are a long-term investment vehicle.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

TOPDRESSING

Many fields of ryegrass and or small grain need nitrogen fertilization this spring, according to John W. Smith, County Agent.

In the late winter and spring, temporary pastures can easily use one pound of actual nitrogen for each day of grazing provided. Where it has been 2 months or longer since nitrogen was applied, it is time to topdress. An application rate of 60-70 lbs. nitrogen per acre (200 lbs. ammonium nitrate or 150 lbs. urea) is recommended where grazing will be needed until early May.

Where the ryegrass blends were planted they will usually produce forage for several weeks longer than Gulf depending on the weather. These fields should be managed to take advantage of this additional forage as grazing or hay. A split application of nitrogen has been effective on the blends applying 50 pounds of nitrogen now followed by 20 lbs. in mid-March will often cause a second topdressing of 20 lbs. and delay the summer growth of bermudagrass and bahiagrass pastures. The newly released, slow release, urea will last about two weeks after application should be made in the early to mid-March. If you have a urea fertilizer you can provide a second topdressing of 20 lbs. in mid-March. This will provide a second topdressing of 20 lbs. in mid-March. This will provide a second topdressing of 20 lbs. in mid-March.

The foliage of the crop should be dry when any nitrogen is applied. No nitrate problems should be encountered with these rates of nitrogen provided a balanced fertilization program is being followed and cattle are supplemented during and after periods of plant stress.

Care should be taken to avoid applying nitrogen fertilizer into potholes or any area holding water that could accumulate nitrates.

Leave a buffer strip around ponds especially if no sodded run-off area was left when fields were planted. Cattle drinking from potholes and ponds where nitrogen has been carelessly applied often contribute to nitrate poisoning problems.

Ryegrass blends or sods seeded on permanent sods as well as ryegrass stands need topdressing with 60-70 pounds of nitrogen by early March.

Applying nitrogen to ryegrass blends or sods after mid-March will often cause a second topdressing of 20 lbs. and delay the summer growth of bermudagrass and bahiagrass pastures.

PRJC wins division play, advances to state tourney

Glenda Gardner and Willie Jean Briggs combined to score 45 points in Wesson, Miss. Saturday night as the Pearl River Junior College Lady Wildcats upset Copiah-Lincoln, 79-71, to win the South Division tournament for the first time.

Gardner, a sophomore from Spring Creek, La., pumped in 22 points, while Briggs, the team's leading scorer all year, added 23 to pace Pearl River.

PRJC and Copiah-Lincoln advanced to the overall state tournament this week at Scooba.

Wednesday night the Lady Wildcats played Mississippi, the north's number two team. Copiah-Lincoln will match up against Northwest, the north's best team and the nation's number one-ranked girls' team.

The win Saturday night assured the Lady Wildcats a berth in the Region 7 National Tournament set for next week at Northwest Junior College in Senatobia.

It was Gardner's first half performance which highlighted the Lady Wildcats' offensive.

Gardner, a five-foot seven-inch guard, scored 20 of her team's 45 points during the first half of play. Then Briggs, the "Cat's" sophomore center, who has been the team's catalyst all year long, banged in 15 second-half points and tipped down a team-high 14 rebounds to finish off the Lady Wildcats' victory.

PRJC's Lady Wildcats made it to the championship round of the South Division tournament.

Last year the Lady Wildcats entered the title game as the No. One seeded team in the division, only to get upset by Jones Junior College.

With the game tied, 13-13 Saturday PRJC took the lead for good at the 19:43 mark of the first half. The Lady Cats increased the margin to 33-21 at the 3:30 mark and maintained a 37-32 halftime advantage.

The Lady Wolves trailed back to tie the game, 34-34, with 18:22 remaining in the game, but Pearl River once again scored their opponents by a 4-point margin during the next 10 minute span.

PRC's Lady Wildcats made it to the South finals with convincing triumphs over Jones and East Central. The PRC women are now sporting an 18-4 overall mark.

Bay Elementary ends season undefeated

Laneaux averaged 22.5 points per game while playing an average of only two quarters per game, Rhodes said.

In the final game Laneaux totaled 45 points. Rhodes reported the team was a 45-17-0 record for the past three seasons.

PJRC boys qualify for regional

Pearl River Junior College's Wildcats qualified for the National Junior College Region 7 Tournament in Memphis Monday with an easy 94-75 win over Phillips College of Gulfport.

The Wildcats, now sporting a 19-3 overall ledger, will compete against teams from Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky in the tournament next week.

Who? Wildcat's are a good elimination from the South Division tournament and were led by a career 25.5 point scorer, center, Larry Ladner, who went on to win the game with a 20-10 lead in the second half and a 20-10 lead in the third half.

After trailing by as many as eight points in the first half, Ulick stormed back to tie the game at 43-43 with 17:00 to go in the contest.

For the next 12-00 minutes, the lead changed hands 13 times until Ulick put together a 10-point run for a 71-61 lead with 3:00 to go.

Refusing to play dead, the Wildcats cut the deficit to 76-70 with 1:00 to go and then added the three-point play to seal the victory.

Pearl River was paced by Phillip Bernard, who came off the bench to pump his team high. After playing only 10 minutes, Bernard scored 10 points in the game, finishing with a career-high 20 points.

Mike Smith was the leading scorer for the Ulicks, whose only loss at home came at the hands of Pearl River earlier in the season. Smith finished the game with 20 points to lead the victory.

FROM THE

PRAIRES

Out in the Texas Panhandle, in jackrabbit country, the route of a new natural gas pipeline is being staked out. This line will extend 635 miles through Oklahoma to a North Louisiana pipeline junction and will eventually help supply the Gulf South with necessary energy.

This new line also will help bring Rocky Mountain gas to the Gulf South. Our principal goal—whether we're participating in a new pipeline across Oklahoma or in pipeline projects to bring gas from Western Canada, the North Slope of Alaska or offshore in the Gulf of Mexico—is to keep the gas flowing to our customers.

Like all fossil fuels, natural gas is not always discovered in places most convenient to where it is needed. Long distances and difficult terrains are often involved as exploration for new energy goes on in more and more remote places.

CAREFUL WHEN HEATING WITH WOOD!

Betsy Ashman
Agent

Few people realize the fatal danger of the intense radiated heat from woodburning units. The heat "cooks" combustible walls. Observe a few simple precautions when installing woodburning stove heaters. To name a few...

- Allow ample distance from combustible surfaces. Place the stove at least 36" from back and side walls.
- If there isn't enough room, erect a protective heat panel or shield.
- Be aware of radiated heat on unprotected floors. The intense heat has been known to burn a hole in the floor.
- The greatest frequency of fires from heating with wood occurs where fine pipes pass through combustible walls or ceilings; use a ventilation thimble.
